COMMITTS NERVY DAYLIGHT THEFT

Crook Goes Through Cambern Home Sunday Morning While They and Guest Were Out to Breakfast.

TAKES NOTHING BUT MONEY

Leaves Valuable Jewelry Unmolested—Steals Between $31 and $36 in New One Dollar Bills.

A daring piece of theiving was done at the home of Claude Cambern in North Main street yesterday morning, while Mr. and Mrs. Cambern and their house guest, Mrs. Charles Slaughter of St. Louis, were out to breakfast. The back door had been unlocked early in the morning by Mr. Cambern and he thought that he relocked it but evidence points to the fact that he did not, because no other means of entry was taken to the house by the burglars or burglar as far as can be learned.

When the party returned from breakfast it was soon discovered that a theft had been committed, which was also discovered to be one of a peculiar nature, for the reason that nothing but money had been taken. Mrs. Cambern's purse, which was in the lower hall of the house, showed up with a $6 shortage, and Mrs. Slaughter's purse, which was upstairs, had between $25 and $30 taken from it, the entire sum being in new unfolded one dollar bills. Jewelry of value was left untouched, which beyond a preadventure of a doubt came into the view of the thief. Among the articles unmolested was Mr. Cambern's watch which was laying out in open view.

The work is thought to be that of home talent for every evidence points that way. For the reason that it was done during breakfast hour throws suspicion on to local crooks and the fact that the jewelry was unmolested also looks as if it was at least far from the deed of a professional. The police have been notified of the robbery and it offers them an excellent opportunity for detective work because of the oddity of new one dollar bills being passed in any quantity in a city this size. This is the second time within the last few years, that the Cambern residence has been burglarized.

ENGINEER KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

Big Four Passenger, Northbound, Due Here at 11:04, Runs Into Cars Below North Vernon.

PASSENGERS ESCAPE UNHURT

The Big Four through northbound train on this division of the Big Four railroad, due here at 11:04 o'clock in the morning, was wrecked near North Vernon this morning. The engineer, whose name could not be learned at the local station, was killed, while the fireman escaped without any injury. All of the passengers escaped being hurt. The passenger ran into a work train from behind. The southbound morning train, which stops at North Vernon, ran on down to the scene of the wreck, picked up the passengers, and ran back through here as the 11:04 train.

—Miss Dove Meredith of Indianapolis was the guest of relatives here over Sunday.

WAS OVERCOME BY HEAT

James Kanouse of St. Paul Falls From Top of Separator.

James Kanouse of St. Paul fell from the top of a separator while threshing at the Glenn Wildman place just west of Adams. When picked up he was unconscious and remained so for nearly fifty minutes, says the Greensburg News.

Though Mr. Kanouse fell, alighting on his head, he received no serious injuries and nothing more serious than a badly sprained wrist. The injured man remembers nothing of the incident and it is presumed that he was overcome with heat.

MUSICIAN GIVES UP HER POSITION

Miss Lucile Linn, Who Has Been Employed at the Star-Grand, Resigns Duties.

TAKES EFFECT SEPTEMBER 10.

Miss Lucile Linn, whose music on the piano at the Star-Grand theater and airdome, has pleased scores of people, has given in her resignation, which will take effect on September 10th. Miss Linn has an innate musical ability. Her rendition is superb, her touch exquisite, and her rhythm perfect, and her ability is far superior to the ordinary performance in five cent theaters. The reason of her resignation lies in the fact that she and her mother, Mrs. H. G. Linn, has already moved to Indianapolis and Lucile will follow as soon as her contract here is completed.

The Rushville patrons of the moving picture shows will miss her playing greatly and it is with no little regret that Mr. Carr relinquishes her from his service.

TOAST LIST WILL RIVAL WITH MENU

Annual Banquet of the High School Alumni Association Will be Held Wednesday, September 7.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH BASEMENT

The banquet and the regular annual meeting of the Alumni Association of the Rushville High School will be held in the basement of the Main Street Christian church Wednesday evening, September 7, at 7 o'clock. The banquet committee, which has charge of the annual affair has sent out cards, requesting each member to designate whether or not he or she can attend the banquet, as the committee would like to know the number of plates which will be taken.

The committee is arranging an attractive toast list which promises to out rival the elaborate menu. Toasts will be had from many of the older graduates and a very pleasant evening is anticipated by those who are in charge of the affair. The banquet will be a very informal affair and a good attendance is desired.

SALVATION ARMY NOTES.

The tent services of the Salvation Army closed last night and the members of the local corps will now hold services at their barracks in Pearl street, Wednesday and Friday evenings at 8 p. m., and Sundays at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. All are welcome.

YOUNG MEN WILL GIVE USUAL FAIR

Will be Held on September Sixth to Ninth at the Catholic Park.

LOCAL TRIO ON TO PERFORM

Many Other Attractions Will Aid in Making the Carnival a Great Success.

The young men of the Catholic church are straining every nerve to make their annual carnival, which will be held this year on September sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth, the greatest ever held by them. As one of them puts it: "It will be our supreme effort to scale the highest mountain of success." The affair will be held in the church park at the corner of Fifth and Perkins streets.

The headline attraction will be a vaudeville performance by Robertson, Jarvis and Newton. The trio will put on their "stunt" nightly with a change of program every twenty-four hours. The talent in this vaudeville is local, but their quality and ability is far beyond the average of those, who take the circuit to gain their livelihood. The country store will do business at the old stand. Grand Carr will be on the ground with his moving picture show, with Miss Lucile Linn at the piano. The cane rack, the Japanese bowling alley, baby-rack, ice cream parlors, lemonade stand, candy store, and the lunch stand will be heralded loudly through the megaphone every night.

Prospects never were brighter for a successful carnival than now. Every effort will be made to make it attractive, clean and entertaining. The impression that it is given by the Knights of Columbus is incorrect, for it is an annual event given by the young men of the church. The committees are meeting almost nightly and before another week will have passed the details of the event will be complete.

RELEASED WHEN PAYS FINE

Clarna Duke Returns to His Home in Center Township.

Clarna Duke, the Rush county young man who was fined for intoxication in the circuit court Friday afternoon, paid his fine of $5 and costs amounting to $20 Saturday morning and was released, says the New Castle Times. He with three other young men were originally arrested charged with robbery, but the charge was dismissed and the intoxication charge substituted. The other two young men are still in jail.

IS TAKING MANY PREMIUMS

John Boyd Takes $114 at Delaware County Fair.

John Boyd, the local fine Jersey raiser, is again taking the money at the fairs this year on account of the excellent qualities of his herd. Week before last he was very successful at the Henry county fair, which was held at New Castle and last week he was awarded $114 in premiums at the Delaware county fair at Muncie. Mr. Boyd is gaining quite a little fame over the middle west as a fine cattle raiser.

SWINDLED OUT OF LARGE SUM

Farmers Near Glenwood and Fayetteville Have Suffered to the Extent of About $300.

HAD A VERY CLEVER SCHEME

Grafters Sold Medicated Lenses Absolutely Worthless, For $2 and $3 a Pair.

Two men, one of them representing himself to be Dr. Smiley of Glenwood, swindled people in the vicinity of near Fayetteville and said that they out of amounts variously estimated from two to three hundred dollars. They sold glasses, which are the common cheap kind, representing them to be medicated lenses of a high class, selling at a great reduction. They sold the spectacles at whatever price they could get for them, the prices ranging from two to three dollars apiece. The men worked in Glenwood for a short time and found several victims, but there they changed their plan of action somewhat, not passing as a physician, as there they feared detection.

The men called at several homes near Fayetteville and said that they had some very extraordinary lenses to sell at a greatly reduced price. One of the men said that he was Dr. Smiley of Glenwood and that the patient could call at the office in Glenwood and that there everything would be made right in case the glasses were not satisfactory. Dr. Smiley is a new physician in Glenwood and does not have a very wide acquaintance outside of the town. The story sounded all right to the purchasers and many of them invested. Few people in that vicinity know Dr. Smiley and for that reason they were led to believe that the man was the original doctor of Glenwood.

A few of the prospective customers objected when they tried on the glasses, saying that they could not see anything through the alleged medicated lenses. The swindler's answer to the objection was that that was the manner in which the new-fangled glasses worked. They said that the patient could not see anything for the first few days, but that the sight would be greatly benefited in three days, when the specially prepared lenses worked on the nerves of the eyes. This was assurance enough that the glasses were all right and especially after the purchasers thought that they could return them to Dr. Smiley of Glenwood and receive their money back if everything was not satisfactory. The swindlers set the time for the return of the eyesight far enough distant, to give them time to escape.

When the promised relief to the patients' eyes did not come, they straightway went to Dr. Smiley in Glenwood, according to the prescription given with the purchase. The Glenwood physician was overwhelmed

GRAHAM IS SOME DRIVER

Takes Pole With Jerome at Greensburg and Wins Heat.

Hon. J. K. Gowdy, "Uncle Jack," of Rushville was here Friday to see his horse, Jerome, in the 2:24 trot, says the Greensburg News. He saw him come second in two heats and saw him make a race worth looking at. If Uncle Jack ever had any doubt of Bruce Graham being a good driver it was dispelled yesterday in the fourth heat, when he drove in on the home stretch, took the pole and won the heat.

HE BELIEVES JONAH STORY

Rev. J. W. Turner in Union Service Says People May Not Call Him a Modern Preacher.

BUT THAT BIBLE TALE IS TRUE

Avers That Proof of it is in Fact That Praying Man is Indigestible—Jonah Prayed.

"You may not call me a modern preacher," said the Rev. J. W. Turner, pastor of the St. Paul M. E. church, at the union services, held in the United Presbyterian church last evening, "but I believe that Jonah story. I believe that Jonah was cast out on the sands and saved from death by the whale. I believe every word of that story from the Bible. In fact a praying man is indigestible. Prayer will accomplish anything and that Jonah was saved from a horrible death due to the fact that he prayed, I have no doubt. Abraham prayed that a son be sent to him to grace his old age and it was sent. I believe in the power of prayer."

Dr. Turner in the course of his sermon proceeded to knock all the foundation out from under the scientist's theory in regard to the natural laws of the earth. He said that prayer was all powerful and could overcome all of the so-called natural laws as the method of the working of the Divine mind. The Rev. Mr. Turner believes that all of the various theories and laws which have been discovered by modern scientists after years of labor and research are subject to change at any time by God's will. The laws of gravitation and other common laws which are said to be regulated from the beginning by natural order of things are all the work of the Divine Being and may be changed or made over at any time.

"What are the common laws?" asked the Rev. Mr. Turner. "When man can change them and make them work to suit his will and fancy, is it not possible for the Supreme Being to do the same? In the Franco-Prussian war, the city of Paris was surrounded by the armies of Germany, and the besieged people were unable to get news to the outer world. Then it was that man found that a gas could be made that is lighter than air. He overcame the laws of gravitation. He filled a balloon bag with gas and sailed out of the city over and outside the range of the enemy's cannon balls and landed safely outside the besieged territory. He brought relief to his people."

"Do you think that God would turn on all of these natural laws and let them run on forever unrestrained? I would ask you a question in everyday life. Does the railroad put a train, filled with trustful men, helpless women and innocent children on the road, start it out at full speed without an engineer? The train would run to destruction—no engineer there to pull the brakes and bring the train to a stop. The people could pull at the bell ropes continuously but without results and the passengers would be dashed to death. So it is with God. He did not make all of the laws by which this great world is run and then release them to run on without an engineer. He has fixed it so that any one of them can be changed. Prayers will be answered even though theorists say that God can not hear prayers."

"Hobble" Skirt Arrives

A blow straight at the heart of the "new woman" movement was struck in Rushville a few days ago, according to students of psychology of the feminine, when a "hobble" or "trotter" skirt appeared on the streets. No more will the manish stride be a part of the twentieth century woman, be she voter or non-voter, at least for this season. This all hinges, of course, on the popularity with which the new skirt is received in America, say the students of the newest feminine gait-limiting fashion.

The new skirt is not prominent because of a broad band running about the bottom, limiting greatly the walking space of the wearer. The band is usually one and one-half yards in circumference.

This "hobble" was made from an Americanized adaptation of the Parisian models, and is said to be far more practicable than the French styles. The band about the French skirts is let down to the hem of the garment, while in the American skirt it is placed a foot or so above the hem, or giving the wearer room enough to move her feet. A row of large buttons down the front and a girdle of the same material as the band set off the new skirt.

The greatest fascination about the skirt, according to specialists in women's outfitting, is learning to walk in them, which, it is said, is as hard an art to master as riding a bicycle or driving an aeroplane. It is this little touch of the new that is bringing the novel garment into such wide notice in Paris.

Many American women, coming home from the continent, have several of these "trotter" skirts, packed in their trunks. It is said that before the year is out the fashion will have gripped the United States as it has Paris, although the Americanized skirts will, in all probability, be modified specimens of the genus "hobble."

YOUTHFUL PRIEST SEEKING CONFESSION

Sequel to Elopement That Stirred Trenton Diocese.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 22.—The Rev. Alphonsus M. Consolazio, an Italian priest of the Trenton diocese, who created a stir in church circles by eloping with and marrying the sixteen-year-old daughter of Franz Johann, is on his way to Rome, determined, it is said, to confess that he has broken his vows to the church and to accept such punishment as may be imposed by the pope.

Katherine Consolazio, the sprightly bride of a few months ago, has returned to live at home. Mrs. Johann is angry and does not attempt to disguise that fact whenever the subject of her daughter's marriage is broached. Mr. Johann is disposed to take a more philosophical view of the situation, though sorely grieved at his daughter's alliance with the handsome young priest.

The outcome of Father Consolazio's visit to the vatican forms a subject for conjecture among his friends. It is taken for granted that if he accepts the discipline of the church he will be separated from his wife forever, probably spending the remainder of his life in the seclusion of a monastery, doing such penance as may be imposed. Father Consolazio has taken a slow steamer for Rome, and is not expected to arrive there until the end of the week.

By Saturday night they probably will be lodged in a London jail to await trial for the murder of a woman supposed to be Crippen's wife, Belle Elmore.

MINERS INDORSE PRESENT STRIKE

Assessment of $1 a Week Levied On All Working Miners.

RIOTOUS SCENE AT THE CLOSE

Tension Which Had Been Growing for Days Broke in a Storm Just Before Final Adjournment Sunday Morning and a Lewis Supporter Was Seriously Injured When a Conflict With Illinois Men Was Precipitated.

Indianapolis, Aug. 22.—The special convention of the United Mine Workers adjourned at 2 o'clock Sunday morning, just after a riot in which two men were knocked down and one was so badly beaten with a pop bottle that it required a doctor to sew up the gashes in his scalp. He was a delegate from Missouri who had stood by Lewis in the exciting debate over the substitution in the committee reports, and his assailants were from Illinois. The man was attacked in the corridors of the hall and knocked two of his assailants down, but they came at him so fast and in such numbers that he was bleeding from a dozen scalp wounds before others interfered and saved him.

Speaking of the results of the convention, President Lewis said that its chief work was the indorsement of all existing strikes, which are to be supported by an assessment of $1 per week on every working miner.

"The fact that the convention failed to reaffirm the position of the mine workers in respect to wage contracts when made," said he, "may temporarily make a bad impression, but it does not reflect the real sentiment and attitude of the membership. The alleged referendum vote of Illinois will be counted and the result announced, not because it will have any effect, but will simply gratify the prejudices of a body of men."

In order to properly finance the present strike the committee found that the following amount is the minimum which will be required each week to support them:

|                  | Men on strike. | Amount required. |
|------------------|----------------|------------------|
| District 5.....  | 10,000         | $20,000         |
| District 12..... | 39,000         | 45,000           |
| District 15..... | 1,503          | 6,500            |
| District 14..... | 8,000          | 20,000           |
| District 21..... | 11,000         | 27,500           |
| District 25..... | 8,000          | 20,000           |
| District 26..... | 1,158          | 5,000            |
| Total.....       |                | $144,000        |

President Lewis intimated very strongly that the organization would not change its policy in respect to the employment of organizers when he said: "We have always had paid organizers and always will have them, as long as we have 400,000 non-union miners in this country. The proposed doing away with these organizers could not be carried into effect because it would have set aside the constitution and the convention was not a constitutional convention. The results of the conventions may be temporarily bad, but as soon as the men at home understand the situation the outcome will be beneficial to them and to the industries of the country."

MAY GO TO MAINE

Indiana Superintendent of Education Gets Offer From the East.

Indianapolis, Aug. 22.—Dr. Robert J. Ale, state superintendent of public instruction and nominee of the Democratic party for re-election this fall, has been tendered the presidency of the University of Maine. Mrs. Ale said she had received a telegram from Dr. Ale at Portland, which led her to believe he had virtually accepted the place. Dr. Ale attended the meeting of the board of trustees in Portland and is now on his way home. The resignation of President George Emery Fellows, tendered last June, goes into effect Sept. 1.

The presidency of the Maine institution pays $5,000 a year. The president also is furnished a house. The salary of the state superintendent of public instruction in Indiana is $3,500 a year. The offer came to Dr. Ale at the time he was in the east attending the meeting of the National Education association at Boston. It was entirely unsolicited, but came as a recognition of Dr. Ale's high achievements in the field of education. The university has seventy instructors.

It is well known to Dr. Ale's friends that he does not like politics. Less than a year ago he was offered the presidency of the University of Oklahoma and thought seriously of accepting until he learned that the board of trustees was at that time divided into factions. Dr. Ale also was offered the presidency of the Wisconsin Normal school at La Crosse, Wis. That place is now held by Fessett A. Cotton, former state superintendent.

PANAMANS EXCITED OVER THESE RUMORS

They Say United States Has No Right to Interfere.

Panama, Aug. 22.—Rumors in general circulation that the United States will not permit the election of Dr. Mendoza to the vice presidency by the assembly on Sept. 1, on the ground that such action would be unconstitutional, have caused alarm and excitement throughout the city. A newspaper interview with the American charge d'affaires confirms the reports, with the result that there is great agitation in political circles. Acting President Mendoza and the members of the cabinet maintain strict reserve concerning their future plans. Some members of the assembly claim that the American government has no right to dictate to them, or to meddle with the internal affairs of Panama. The officials are advising the people to keep calm. The alcalde and the police have taken measures to preserve order.

A WESTERN WELCOME

Will Be Given Roosevelt Upon His Arrival at Cheyenne.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 22.—A genuine western welcome is in preparation for Colonel Roosevelt's visit here. Cheyenne's earlier frontier days' celebration takes place at the time of the former president's visit, and all the old-time cowboys will ride bucking horses, rope steers and perform all the feats of daring in which they excel. The streets of Cheyenne are already enlivened by the picturesque dress of men from the ranges, with the chaps, lariats and big spurs. Indians are also on hand to take part in the stage hold-up, riding contests and wild horse races. The arrival of Roosevelt will be the climax of the celebration. The program includes broncho busting for the world's championship, and ladies' relay riding championship. In these events some of the best men in the west are entered. Former Champion Dick Stanley will be among the broncho busters.

INDIANA FALLS BY THE WAYSIDE

Is Far Behind Less Favored Than European Countries in Matter of Good Roads.

CONGRESS DELEGATES WRITES

Urges More Public Interest in Hoosier Highways so That They May be Improved.

That Indiana is far behind less-favored European districts in the matter of good roads and chiefly because of public indifference to the subject is the conclusion reached by Clarence A. Kenyon, of Indianapolis who is now in Brussels as a delegate from Indiana to the International Road Congress. In a letter to The Star Mr. Kenyon says there are more than 2,000 delegates in attendance, many of whom are high officials in the European countries represented. His opinion as to the shortcoming of Indiana was reached after closely observing road conditions in the several countries through which he passed.

"After landing in England I made a trip of 1000 miles through rural England and Scotland, most of which was made by automobile and coach, largely for the purpose of inspecting the roads and highways," his letter states.

"In a word these highways are splendid. Drained, fenced on each side with stone or hedges fences, a smooth, hard stone roadway, ranging from seven to twenty-four feet in width, according to the importance or class of the highway. Grass—not weeds—on each side of the roadway proper, which grass is trimmed almost like a lawn.

"And let me tell you this condition is not confined to one locality, but is practically universal. Frequently you will hear it said, and often see it in print, that Indiana has as fine roads as any country. It is not true. There is no benefit to be derived from deceiving ourselves. We have in Indiana practically no roads that are the equal of the most ordinary road in England. I am proud of Indiana and I would not say this if it were not true.

"Automobiles are as numerous here as they are at home; perhaps more so, and they are very destructive to the roads, but the English people are taking time by the forelock, and at greatly increased cost by keeping their roads in repair. Steam carriages and trucks were invented in England in 1828, and many were in use in 1843-5, when Parliament passed a law prohibiting their use on the roads. The people know that it would be impossible to get another such law passed if they desired (which they do not), and hence their early and strenuous effort to prevent the destruction of roads that cost more per mile to build than in Indiana.

"Another common error among Indians is the belief that these roads have been centuries in building. John Macadam did not invent the Macadam road until 1816, and few of them were built prior to 1840. All of these roads, about 30,000 miles of them, have been built and paid for in the past seventy years. And in addition to this, they have been kept in almost perfect repair.

"I took pains to find out if the land is more fertile or the people better off than in our fair State of Indiana. I found that the land is far less fertile, and mostly used only as grazing land or for hay raising, and much is not cultivated at all. I then asked myself why this great difference? And it is no easy question to answer, but as near as I could make it out it is somewhat as follows:

"Practically everyone from King and lord down to huckster, assume that good roads well maintained are not only desirable, but absolutely necessary, no matter about the cost. To be sure they are all the time studying how to reduce the cost and keep up the quality, but no one considers for a moment the idea of just 'letting them go' or abandoning construction on the ground of lack of money, or that 'the burden of taxation is already large and we can't afford to increase the levy,' etc. England has but recently placed all her roads under a general governing board with a view to greater efficiency in construction and maintenance of her highways.

"Here in England a public official member of Parliament or one desiring to enter Parliament, who would remain quiet or speak against highway betterment, would have absolutely no chance to be elected to office.

"Now with the sentiment universal the question is much simplified. It resolves itself into something like the following: (1) Which is the best kind of road to build, all things considered, such as the cost of building and the cost of upkeep? This last is made much of here. (2) We must without reducing the quality. (3) A accomplish this at the least cost, consideration of the best way to raise the money and an equal distribution of the cost.

"The whole cost is not laid on the farmer or local community, as with us, but comes from all taxable property. Working out road taxes is here unknown. One engineer said, 'Can it be possible that you have adopted and keep in force such an antiquated system?' I told him it is true that we do. He said, 'I should think the whole community would rebel and throw out the officials that keep such a system.'

"This illustrates the question of sentiment. We are so much engrossed in politics, in business, in ourselves and our individual doings, and other things that seem so much more important. That is what keeps us back. And then we have no central head, but every township has its officers. We should get a State highway commission and State aid as soon as possible, or continue to fall behind."

Melons Fatal to Babies

That green corn, watermelon, cantaloupe, cucumbers and other food difficult to digest is as dangerous to the health and lives of babies as the many soothing sirups condemned as poisonous by government chemists, is the declaration of Dr. C. S. Woods, city sanitarian of Indianapolis. Dr. Woods, says the soothing sirups condemned are bad enough and he agrees with all the things the government chemists have said about their containing opiates and other harmful ingredients, but the green corn and cucumbers are donig equally as much harm in Indianapolis now as the sirups, he says.

The government officials recently have sent out bulletins condemning certain soothing sirups as being poisonous to children and have given the names of the sirups and the ingredients they contain.

Dr. Woods says a majority of the infant deaths in Indianapolis during the months of July started from intestinal troubles and it is safe to assume, he says, that a majority of the cases had their beginning by the child eating such foods as it can not readily digest. He attributes many of the deaths the children to the carelessness of parents in allowing them to eat injurious foods.

Dr. Turner says that a praying man is indigestible. There is a long list of indigestible things that might be named so that a praying man is not anything out of the ordinary.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

An amusing event took place at the county clerk's office recently, says the New Castle Times. A young man from Knightstown was bound to get married, although he seemed otherwise fully cognizant of all other earthly things, entered the office briskly, stepped up to the marriage license clerk with buoyant air and demanded a marriage license.

The clerk filled out the marriage license and handed it over. "Thank you," said the young man. "Hold on! That's $2."

"Two dollars!" "Yes, did you suppose we gave those things away?"

"I certainly did. Chargin' a man $2 for a sheet of paper that didn't cost the county more than a nickel at the outside is robbery. Have I got to pay it?"

"You'll pay it or you'll hand back the document."

"All right," said the young man, taking a bill out of his pocket, tendering it to the clerk and waiting for his change. "but I can tell you right now you ain't robbin' me. You're robbin' the preacher. He'll get just $2 less than I was goin' to give him."

Pocketing the change and tilting his hat back on his head he stalked out of the office with the air of a man who had been imposed upon, but who knew how to get even.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace management has a Biograph film with two subjects to-night. Diplomacy is a rare trait which is proven by the picture.

"When we Were in Our Teens." A young woman is so fortunate as to have two lovers and they are both very ardent in their attention. She is a painter and when one of them refuses to praise her work, she throws him over. The rival shows better judgment and praises her work to the sky. The manner in which they both fall from her grace serves as the plot for a clever story.

"An Old Story With a New Ending" is the other film, which tells a story of interest, very entertaining and built around a unique and novel plot.

The Star Grand has a big double program which will be shown at the air dome tonight. The feature or headliner of the bill is F. B. Franks, said to be the strongest man in America. He will give a free exhibition in front of the air dome each evening during his stay here. He will allow an Overland automobile, belonging to J. W. Gabimer, agent for the Overland, weighing 2200 pounds, to be run over his neck. Will Doyle of Connersville will drive his big Lexington car, carrying two persons and weighing three thousand pounds, over Frank's big stomach. Some of the acts inside will be lifting a pair of freight car wheels, weighing 1850 pounds; breaking over his neck a 400 capacity wagon axle and numerous other daring and reckless acts.

The Biograph film, "A Flash of Light" will be shown. A young and ambitious chemist is in love with the eldest of two daughters and suddenly becomes infatuated with the younger one. He is fascinated by what he thinks is vivacity which is nothing more than frivolousness. They are married and she soon tires of a domestic life. The young woman leaves her husband after he has been made deaf and blind by an explosion in his laboratory. The older sister wears the wedding ring and deceives the husband until he regains his sight. The interesting developments furnish a fitting climax for the tragic ending. Earl Robertson will sing "When I First Saw the Love Light in Your Eyes."

The Vaudet will show a big Bison feature film tonight. "Mexican Jealousy" is the theme around which the story is built and furnishes a plot that is well worth the tale which is depicted by the picture. The scenery in the subject is very picturesque and furnishes a suitable background for the highly dramatic picture.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

MAY ENTER HERE.

(Knightstown Banner.)

Will A. Fentress, a Wayne township boy, and one of the best hustlers within a radius of ten miles of Knightstown, thinks he has one of the very best fillies in the country, and we believe it. Her name is La Costa, and she was brought home last week from New Castle, where Everett Osborne has been working her the past four months. She is only two years old, but can burn the wind some.

On the New Castle track a few days since she covered an eighth in sixteen seconds, a 2:08 gait; a quarter in 34 seconds, a 2:16 gait; half mile in one minute and 11 seconds; a full mile in 2:29. That's doing pretty well for so young a filly and only four months working.

La Costa is by Coastman, 2:09 1/4. Dam, Lady, by Col. Howe, dam of Star Patch, 2:04 1/4, owned by B. F. Smith of Ruston, Miss.

Mr. Fentress has entered his young filly in the $10,000 Western Horseman futurity race, to occur at the Indiana State fair next year. He has been offered $1,500 for his animal, but, of course, he declined the offer.

FISTIC WAS IMPENDED.

(Greenfield Reporter.)

It looked for a time Friday afternoon that there might be a physical contest in addition to a wordy battle between men who were posting bills in this city for the Hagenbeck-Wallace show, which is to exhibit here next Friday and the Forepaugh-Sells show, which comes to Indianapolis later.

The Wallace people had contracts for the billboards, but in places where simply comps had been given for the privileges, the Forepaugh men began to hang their pictures over the dazzling ring acts and growling tigers of the Hagenbeck aggregation. The representatives of the latter show were on the job evidently expecting it and followed the Forepaugh men all over town, until finally the latter gave up the job and said they would return next Saturday after the Wallace show had departed.

BTTEN BY RAT.

(New Castle Times.)

J. W. Davy, who lives in North 10th street, has a badly swollen left ear and is suffering considerable pain as the result of being bitten by a large rat one night recently. Mr. Davy was compelled to seek the services of a physician to dress the ear, which was bleeding profusely.

Some time during the night, while Mr. Davy was asleep, the rat gained entrance to his room by gnawing a hole through the partition. Just what about the ear appeared appetizing is not known, but the rat sunk its teeth into the member and pierced the lobe through and through. Mr. Davy had the ear dressed, but what became of the rat is not stated.

FEAR WATER FAMINE.

(Greensburg Review.)

Greensburg is very near a water famine. The woeful waste of water during the long dry spell has brought the management of the waterworks to a realization of the seriousness of the situation, and orders have been issued for a curtailment of the use of water for sprinkling purposes.

On last Wednesday six thousand gallons of water were pumped into the mains at the station. This means five hundred gallons for each consumer on the system. Think of it. The company desires that every consumer shall have all the water that is needed, but it will not tolerate a further waste.

The Girl and the Bill

By Bannister Merwin

Illustrations by Ray Walton

(Copyright, 1900, Dodd, Mead Company.)

Orme decided to be on the safe side, so he slipped under the cushion of the extra seat another mining prospectus which he had in his pocket, placing it in such a way that the end of the paper protruded. Then he put his lips close to the girl's ear and whispered: "Don't be alarmed, but tell me, does our chauffeur remind you of anyone?" She studied the stolid back in front of them. The ill-fitting dust-coat masked the outline of the figure; the cap was so low on the head that the ears were covered.

"No," she said, at last, "I think not." With that, Orme sought to reassure himself.

They were in Lincoln park now. Over this same route Orme and the girl had ridden less than twenty-four hours before. To him the period seemed like a year. Then he had been plunging into mysteries unknown with the ideal of his dreams; now he was moving among secrets partly understood, with the woman of his life—loving her and knowing that she loved him.

One short day had brought all this to pass. He had heard it said that Love and Time are enemies. The falseness of the saying was clear to him in the light of his own experience. Love and Time are not enemies; they are strangers to each other.

On they went northward. To Orme the streets through which they passed were now vaguely familiar, yet he could hardly believe his eyes when they swung around on to the lake front at Evanston, along the broad ribbon of Sheridan road.

But there was the dark mysterious surface of Lake Michigan at their right. Beyond the broad beach, he could see the line of breakwaters, and at their left the electric lights threw their beams into the blackness of little parks and shrubby lawns.

The car swept to the left, past the university campus.

"Do you remember?" asked the girl, in a low voice, pressing his arm. Then, "Don't!" she whispered. "Some one will see!" for he had drawn her face to his.

They came to the corner of Chicago avenue and Sheridan road, where they had halted the night before in their search for the hidden papers. "We'd better give him further directions," said the girl.

But the chauffeur turned north at the corner and put on more speed.

"He's taking the right direction," she laughed. "Perhaps his idea is to follow Sheridan road till we tell him to turn."

"I don't quite like it," said Orme, thoughtfully. "He's a bit too sure of what he's doing."

The girl hesitated. "It is funny," she exclaimed. "And he's going faster, too." She leaned forward and called up to the chauffeur: "Stop at this corner."

He did not seem to hear. She repeated the order in a louder voice, but the only answer was another burst of speed.

Then Orme reached up and touched the chauffeur's shoulders. "Stop the car!" he cried.

The chauffeur did not obey. He did not even turn his head.

Orme and the girl looked at each other. "I don't understand," she said. "I'm afraid I am beginning to," Orme replied. "He will not stop until we are where he wishes us to be."

"We can't get out," she exclaimed. "No. And if I pull him out of the seat, the car will be ditched." He puzzled vainly to hit on a method of action, and meantime the moments sped.

They passed the university grounds quickly. Orme retained an impression of occasional massive buildings at the right, including the dome of an observatory, and at the left the lighted windows of dwellings.

He saw, too, the tower of a light-house, a dark foundation supporting a changing light above; and then the road turned sharply to the left and, after a few hundred yards, curved again to the north.

Suddenly the chauffeur slowed down. On either side were groves of trees. Ahead were the lights of an approaching motor.

Orme was still at a loss, and the girl was awaiting some decision from him. When the chauffeur at last turned and spoke—three short words—Orme realized too late the situation he and the girl were in.

"We stop now," said the chauffeur. And the girl, with a horrified gasp, exclaimed: "Maku!"

Yes, it was the Japanese.

Calmly he put on the brakes and brought the car to a standstill by the roadside; then, removing his goggles, turned to Orme and the girl and smiled an inscrutable smile. There was an ugly bruise on his forehead, where Orme had struck him with the wrench.

But quick though Maku was, he was not quick enough to see a motion which Orme had made immediately after the moment of recognition—a motion which had even escaped the notice of the girl. Perhaps it accounted for

in which Orme met his

CHAPTER XVII.

The Struggle.

The approaching car now drew up near by, and three men jumped lightly to the road.

In the radiance of the lamps on the two cars, Orme recognized Arima. The men with him were also Japanese, though Orme was not conscious that he had ever seen them before.

It was clear enough how he and the girl had blundered into the hands of the Orientals. Maku had undoubtedly secured a car and had driven it to the vicinity of the Rookery in response to a telephoned order from Alcatraz, transmitted, in all likelihood, through the Japanese minister.

The appearance of the car on La Salle street had been expected by the South American. Perhaps he had not anticipated that Orme would hail it; the probability was that he had wished Maku's assistance without a definite idea of what that assistance should be, but the use of the car by Orme fell in nicely with his plans. He had assumed readily enough the direction the car would take, and getting promptly into telephonic communication with Arima, had arranged this meeting on the road.

Orme now remembered that Arima's car, when approaching, had sounded its horn at regular intervals, in series of threes—evidently a signal. "Don't worry, girl, dear," whispered Orme. "I—" he broke off his sentence as the newcomers clustered about the tonneau, but the confident glance of her eyes reassured him.

He knew not what they were to face. The Japanese, he inferred, would not deal with him pleasantly, but surely they would not harm the girl.

Arima opened the door of the tonneau and with a lightning motion grasped Orme by the wrist.

"Get out," he ordered.

Orme was in no mind to obey. There were four of the Orientals against him, and he stood little chance of success in a fight with them, but if he could only delay matters, someone might pass and he could raise an alarm. So he sat firm, and said, calmly:

"What do you want?"

"Get out," repeated Arima.

When Orme still made no move to leave his seat, the steely fingers on his wrist ran up his forearm and pressed down hard upon a nerve-center. The pain was almost unbearable, and for the moment his arm was paralyzed. A quick jerk brought him to the ground. As he alighted, stumblingly, Maku caught him by the other arm. He was held in such a way that for the moment it seemed futile to struggle. Arima, meantime, spoke rapidly in Japanese to Maku. Perhaps he, as commander of the situation, was giving precise orders as to what was to be done.

Orme looked over his shoulder at the girl. She was clutching the door of the tonneau and leaning forward, staring with horrified eyes.

"Keep cool," he counseled.

Her answer was a moan of anguish, and he realized that she feared for him.

Suddenly she began to call for help. Twice her cries rang out, and then one of the Japanese leaped into the tonneau and placed his hand over her mouth, smothering her voice.

The sight of this action was too much for Orme. He began a furious effort to break away from his captors. One sudden motion freed his right arm from Arima's clutch, and he reached for Maku's throat. But after a moment of scuffling, he was again held securely.

"Girl!" he shouted, "don't try to

If you don't, some Rushville people do.

Read a case of it:

George Priest, 223 West Third Street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I was bothered by attacks of kidney trouble for several years and as time passed my condition became worse. There was a dull pain directly over my kidneys and I had spells of dizziness and weakness. My sight often became blurred and I knew that something must be done. Three years ago Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and were so highly recommended that I got a box at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store. They proved to be the best kidney medicine I had ever taken and in a short time had entirely relieved me. On several occasions during the past three years I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and they have always given entire satisfaction."

call out. Keep quiet.

The Japanese in the tonneau appeared to understand the words, for he took his hand away from the girl's mouth, though he remained beside her, ready to put an end to any fresh outbreak.

"Now," said Orme, turning his eyes on Arima, "what does this mean?" "You give us papers," replied the Japanese softly.

"I have no papers that mean anything to you."

"We see. Give them to me."

"What papers do you want?" demanded Orme.

"You know," Arima's voice sounded less patient.

"But I have nothing that you care anything about," repeated Orme.

At that Arima began rapidly to search Orme's pockets. There was sufficient light from the lamps of the two cars to illuminate the scene.

Arima's left hand still held Orme's right forearm, and his right hand was free to hunt for the papers. Maku, on the other side, had meantime strengthened his grip on Orme's left arm, at the same time raising one knee so that Orme could feel it pressing against the small of his back.

"What this!" asked Arima, taking a long envelope from the inner pocket of Orme's coat and holding it up for inspection.

"A blank contract," said Orme. "Do you want it?"

Arima took the paper from the envelope and examined it. Then with an exclamation of disgust he replaced it in Orme's pocket, and continued his search.

"You see," said Orme calmly, "there is nothing here."

The Japanese, muttering in his own tongue, ran his hands over Orme's body and even looked into his hat. Nothing was found.

"You might as well believe me first as last," exclaimed Orme. "The papers you want are not here."

Arima was clearly puzzled. "You had them," he began.

"Possibly. But I haven't them now. How would you feel if I should tell you that the young lady and I have made this journey simply to throw you off the scent, and that the papers were being delivered by another person?"

"I not believe," declared Arima shortly.

Suddenly Maku began to jabber at Arima, who, after an instant of consideration, gave a quick order to the fourth Japanese, who stood by. This man went to the tonneau and got the prospectuses which Orme had placed under the seat cushion.

Arima snatched the papers with his free hand, then, resigning Orme entirely to Maku's care, and clucking strangely, opened them.

A glance sufficed. With a cry of disappointment, he tore the paper in two and threw them to the ground.

He thrust his face close to Orme's. "Where the papers?" he said.

Orme did not reply.

The Japanese who had brought the prospectuses from the tonneau now stepped to Maku's assistance, for Orme had made a motion of the body which showed that he was rapidly losing his patience.

"Queek!"

Still no answer.

"Ha!" The exclamation had a ring of triumph. "Mees have um!" He nodded toward the car where the girl still sat.

"No," exclaimed Orme vehemently. "She has not."

MINERS ASK FOR THE NEW BANKS

Wage-Earners Quick to Take Advantage of Law.

JASONVILLE'S EARLY REQUEST

All States Now on Waiting List for Consideration in Placing of Postal Savings Banks—Credit to Republican Party for New Law—Democrats Who Voted Against Measure Must Explain Their Conduct to Voters.

(Washington Letter.)

Every state in the Union is now on hand at the postoffice department with requests for the placing of postal savings banks. Over 400 postmasters and more than 1,000 banks have sent in requests for consideration, though the new system does not even start its trial or experimental banks for several months yet.

Jasonville, Ind., was the first Indiana postoffice to make a request for early action. The First National bank of that place desired to be made the local depository.

Jasonville has many miners. These men are well paid. They desire to save, and they have been quick to take advantage of the chance to put their savings in a bank which has the government back of it for safety.

Many of these citizens came to this country from lands where postal savings banks and other institutions for the encouragement of thrift have long been used. They know the value of the postal savings bank system. They have been employing the postal department money order idea for years. They now will avail themselves of the savings bank feature.

These same citizens will place their approval on the political party which passed the postal savings bank law. Wherever good citizens take advantage of the new government school for thrift, the Republican party will be praised for giving the people their desire. And Democrats who voted against the postal savings bank law will rue the folly of their obstructionist votes.

BOOSTS

Cambridge City makes a splendid showing of bank deposits, indicating large gains in proportion to the increase of population.

Connorsville reports a steadily increasing number of individual bank depositors.

The Tippecanoe Petticoat Company will start a new factory at Rochester September 1.

Oakland City has a new ice plant in operation.

Evansville has landed the mine rescue station for southern Indiana, Illinois and western Kentucky. Linton and Terre Haute were after the station, but Evansville and Henderson, Ky., had the advantage of central location. Indiana won over Kentucky.

Jasonville was the first Indiana postoffice to apply for postal savings bank privileges under the new law. Many miners around Jasonville asked for the new chance to save money.

A new flouring mill is being built at Rosedale.

The U. B. Smith Motor Works has opened at Terre Haute.

CRUMPACKER BOOMED

FOR CANNON'S CHAIR

The following resolutions express the joint purpose and will of the Republican candidates for congress in Indiana, and mark the beginning of a serious and important movement for the election of an Indiana Republican congressman, Judge E. D. Crumpacker, to the speakership of the national house of representatives:

"Whereas, the dean of the Indiana delegation in congress, the Hon. E. D. Crumpacker, is amply qualified by experience, ability and character for the position of speaker of the house of representatives, and his career justifies the belief that he would administer the affairs of that office with eminent fairness and in the interests of the people and the ever progressive principles of Republicanism. Therefore be it Resolved, That when chosen to represent the people of our several districts in congress we will support Judge E. D. Crumpacker for the speakership of the house of representatives in the confident belief of his election, and thereby that the influence of our state in national affairs will be greatly increased and the public interest be largely served."

MODERN HAIR DRESSING

has played havoc with the tresses of the fair sex, and druggists everywhere comment on the fact that they are selling large quantities of sage for making the old-fashioned "sage tea," such as was used by our grandmothers for promoting the growth of their hair and restoring its natural color. The demand for this well-known herb for this purpose has been so great that one manufacturer has taken advantage of the fact, and has placed on the market an ideal "sage tea," containing sulphur, a valuable remedy for dandruff and scalp rashes and irritations. This preparation, which is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, is sold by all leading druggists for 50 cents and $1 a bottle, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

FOREST FIRES
SWEEP THINGSMontana Reports Heaviest Loss
In Her History.

SITUATION GROWING WORSE

Many Towns Have Been Wiped Out, Including Prosperous Town of Wallace, While Helena and Missoula Are Enveloped in a Smoke Pall Which Has Turned Day Into Night For the Half-Stified Inhabitants.

Helena, Mont., Aug. 22.—The forest fire situation in Montana is the worst in the history of the state. Last reports from the Flathead country before communication was cut was to the effect that the situation was well nigh hopeless, that new fires had broken out and that the fighters were unable to cope with the situation.

The Bitter Root Valley fires have also secured renewed vigor. J. M. Kennedy of the bureau of protection has received information that the town of Libby was surrounded by fires and the situation was critical.

Eureka is also reported surrounded, while the fires at Avon have broken out afresh.

Last night in Helena both the southern skies as well as the north and east were aglow, indicating that the flames are creeping up the Rocky mountains from the west. A few blocks is the limit one may see, so dense is the smoke in Helena. The Helena fire department was called out to fight brush fires just west of the city limits. All wires between Helena and Spokane on the Great Northern and Northern Pacific are down, the poles having burned.

An unverified report reached here that an Oriental Limited train on the Great Northern has been ditched between two fires, while it is also reported that fresh fire broke out in Ten-Mile valley about fifteen miles south of Helena.

Governor Norris, who is making a tour of the state with the army engineers on their inspection of irrigation prospects, is expected here today and will doubtless call out all the state troops to assist the regulars.

Another bad fire is reported on state land adjoining the Gallatin forest. High winds are carrying the flames toward the Yellowstone park. Still another message says that the town of Sylvanite, in Lincoln county, has been wiped out. Governor Norris has been wired for 500 men for the Libby district. Fires are now advancing on it from two directions. The towns of Taft and St. Regis were also burned. So far as known there has been no loss of life in either place or Sylvanite. The towns were completely wiped out.

FURTHER LOSS

Half the Town of Wallace Reported to Be in Ruins.

Missoula, Mont., Aug. 22.—Half of the town of Wallace lies in smoking ruins and heavy clouds of smoke hang about the country, through which the light of the fires at night shows copper and red. Two lives were lost during the destruction of the town of 6,000 people, one of the wealthiest for its size in the country. Several trains run by the Milwaukee and the Northern Pacific removed hundreds of the homeless out of danger. Eleven more deaths have been reported in the forests about the city when men were engaged in fighting fire.

Refugees are pouring into this city from the fire-stricken districts in the west, bringing heart-rending tales of suffering and distress. The Northern Pacific, operating relief specials, has brought nearly 1,000 people here. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul had a special made up of every available sort of equipment in which 500 persons were huddled. One woman picked up at one place gave birth to a child in a box car.

The smoke which has settled over the city is so dense that it is as dark as night, with a crimson glow showing through. Ashes and wood cinders are falling all over the city.

From the Black Foot region comes a story of destruction by fires. It is said the fire is uncontrollable and all the residents are fleeing.

The telephone officials have rumors of 150 fire fighters being burned to death in the Clearwater.

The Milwaukee officials report five bridges burned on the east side of the Bitter Root divide.

Bates & Rogers' construction camp near the summit of the divide has been destroyed by fire with loss of life, but the number of deaths cannot be learned at this time. Further down the mountains the charred remains of men were found near the tracks.

Freight Wreck Fatal For Six.
 Northfield, Vt., Aug. 22.—In a head-on collision between two freight trains at Northfield Falls six men were killed and several others seriously injured. Several valuable race horses bound for Canadian tracks were killed. The wreckage took fire immediately after the crash and there remains but little more than a smoldering pile.

Vice President Sherman is to take the stump in Illinois this week in behalf of Congressman W. B. McKinley, standpat candidate for re-election.

SHERMAN AND CURTIS
FULLY EXONERATEDReport of Committee in Indian Land Charges.

Sulphur, Okla., Aug. 22.—The select committee appointed by the house of representatives to investigate Indian land affairs and the so-called McMurray contracts and which also has been investigating the charges, has issued the following statement:

"The committee has heard and carefully considered all of the testimony submitted and is unanimously of the opinion that there is and was no warrant for any person to use the names of Vice President Sherman and Senator Charles S. Curtis in connection with any improper relation with any Indian contract whatever."

This is the opinion of the committee, after hearing scores of witnesses who appeared following the testimony of Senator T. P. Gore. Senator Gore declared he had been approached by Jake L. Hamon and that Hamon, acting in the interest of J. S. McMurray, had offered him (Senator Gore) $25,000 or $50,000 as a bribe to promote in congress the contracts by which McMurray was to receive 10 per cent attorney fees on the sale of $30,000,000 worth of Indian lands.

The senator testified that Hamon had mentioned Sherman and Curtis and Vice President Sherman as being interested in the deal. Mr. Sherman being named as the man "higher up." Hamon on the stand denied he had ever said anything about the contracts to Gore. The committee announced that the investigation had not been concluded.

Senator Gore said: "The investigation is nearing completion. I am entirely satisfied with the result. It will eventuate in infinite good to the people of Oklahoma, both the white man and to the red man. The affairs of the Indian will be wound up and without charge or cost to him."

Killed by Traction Car.

Peru, Ind., Aug. 22.—Charles McClure, twenty years old, was killed at Gilrad by a Winona interurban car. He had been asleep on the cattle guard fence and when the car whistle blew he became frightened and jumped forward. He struck the vestibule of the car and was instantly killed.

Ran in Front of Machine.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 22.—Irene Koch, eight years old, was run over and instantly killed by an automobile driven by Mrs. Fred Tressell. The child started to cross the street and ran directly in front of the machine, which was turning a corner.

ESTRADA WINS
LONG STRUGGLEMadriz Driven Out of Managua
By Revolutionists.

A NEW REGIME IS DECLARED

After Decisive Victory Over the Forces of the De Facto Government, Insurgents Enter the Capital—President Madriz Turned the Government Over to the Es. adists and Then Left for the Coast to Sail North.

Managua, Nicaragua, Aug. 22.—As a result of peace conferences President Madriz has resigned the presidency of Nicaragua to Jose D. Estrada, the insurgent general's brother, and fled with his family to Corinto. General Mena opposed the surrender, and with his forces has captured and looted Granada.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Official confirmation has been received at the state department of the downfall of the Madriz faction in Nicaragua. The defeat of the Madriz troops on the 18th inst., and the crossing of the Tipitapa river by the entire invading army of Estrada was confirmed by advices from Consul Olivares at Managua. The troops of General Toledo, who commanded the Madriz faction, were stampeded and fled to Managua. The family of Madriz had left Managua for Corinto and were to be followed by Dr. Madriz, who after having relinquished the remnant of his authority, was preparing to flee the country. The advices declare that Managua was in turmoil and that hostile demonstrations were being made against the United States.

Mr. Olivares further reported that Madriz had stated it to be his purpose to turn over to Jose Dolores Estrada, a brother of General Juan Estrada, the de facto authority actually in his hands, and that Jose Dolores Estrada has declared that he will in turn make way for the leaders of the Estrada revolution. The family of Madriz had left Managua for Corinto and Dr. Madriz was expected to follow with the object of leaving the country. General Irias and his family and General Toledo were also preparing to leave Nicaragua on the 20th. Managua is stated to be in a turmoil of excitement. The consul reports that some followers of Madriz are manifesting open hostility to the United States, roaming the streets and crying "Death to the Yankees!" The legation and consulate are under heavy police guard and the general situation is reported to be very threatening.

A telegram from Mr. Johnson, consul at Corinto, confirms what Mr. Olivares reports as to the supposed intentions of the Madriz faction. Mr. Johnson reports that the family of Dr. Madriz arrived at Corinto on the 19th, that General Toledo and the family of General Irias arrived on the 20th; that it is reported that General Toledo will take the first chance to leave the country and that Madriz, General Irias and others were expected at Corinto on the night of the 20th, the report being that they would leave on the gunboat Angela, or the northbound Pacific Mail steamer on Monday the 22nd. The U. S. S. Vicksburg and the Yorktown are now at Corinto.

Dr. Salvador Castrillo, the Washington representative of Estrada, the insurgent leader, has received a cablegram which says: "All our army forced a passage at Panalota. The enemy was routed after fourteen hours' fighting, leaving in our hands one field piece, 100,000 cartridges for small arms, 200 rifles, with provisions and prisoners."

Dr. Castrillo said that the regular Estrada army will be re-enforced on the west side of the river by an army of 1,000 revolutionists under General Saenz, who has been fighting on the Pacific coast of Nicaragua for three months and has succeeded in capturing several towns.

"No doubt by this time General Estrada and his army are in Managua, the capital city," said the doctor.

BURNED TO DEATH

Wife and Three Daughters of Oil Operator Killed in Auto Accident.

Pittsburg, Aug. 22.—A mother and her three daughters, all graduates of exclusive finishing schools, were cremated Sunday, when an auto driven by the father was blown to fragments by the explosion of a twenty-gallon tank of gasoline on the rear of the machine.

The father, William Faith, retired oil operator and one of the most wealthy men of Masontown, Pa., and his son, William Faith, jr., were seriously burned and may die. The dead are: Mrs. Ellen Faith, aged fifty-eight; Catherine Faith, twenty-three; Annie Faith, twenty, and Ella Faith, sixteen.

What caused the explosion no one knows. The car was entirely wrecked. The father and son, unconscious, were thrown several feet, and the mother and daughters, hemmed in the tonneau, were burned to a crisp.

Coroner Schwanke of New York has accepted bail for Edward T. Rosenheimer, a young millionaire, who is charged with killing Grace Brown in an auto collision.

ISSUES BOOK OF POEMS BY RICE

The First Shipment of "Sun-Ways of Song" by Bard of Shelby County, Made by Indianapolis Firm.

TOM MULL GETS FIRST ONE

That "Sun-Ways of Song" is destined to strike a popular chord among lovers of poetry is shown in the advance sales of the book. Bobbs-Merrill &amp; Co., of Indianapolis, one of the leading firms of its kind in the country sold a large order yesterday and the shipment was made today, says the Shelbyville Democrat. The fact alone certainly speaks well for the book as it has only been on the market a few days.

Honors unsought for are to fall to the lot of Thomas K. Mull of Manilla, who was the first person to purchase a copy in this city. Mr. Rice was heard to remark to a friend a few days ago that he intended to dedicate a poem to Mr. Mull as a token of appreciation. This remark on the part of the poet brought forth the suggestion that the subject matter for the poem be based on matrimony, as Mr. Mull is a bachelor. It is known, however, that he is rather confirmed in his opinion in this respect and his case was given up as hopeless long ago.

Two Hundred and Fifty Excursioned From Here Saturday Night.

It was once thought that the day of the excursion was over, but Will Alexander and John Quincey Thomas can not see it that way. On last Saturday night they personally conducted an excursion to Chicago by way of Michigan City. There were three car loads of people who went from Rushville, being in all about 250. From other points along the route five more cars were filled to such an extent that standing space in the cars had to be used. Bert and Scott Conde who had charge of the dining car completely sold out their stock.

Indiana in general and Knightstown in particular, by the selection of L. P. Newby of this city, as the Grand Standard Bearer of the Grand Encampment of Knights Templars, at Chicago last week, are proud, says the Knightstown Banner.

According to the rules of succession that prevails in the order, this places Mr. Newby in line for Grand Master of the largest Masonic and most conservative body in the world. It now has between 200,000 and 300,000 members and is rapidly growing; its jurisdiction includes all of the States, territories and island possessions of the United States and Mexico.

For the next three years the Jewel of the office will be kept in the vaults of the Citizens' National bank and the grand standard, the banner of the order, will be displayed in the Masonic temple in Knightstown.

STOREKEEPER WILL NOT BE PROSECUTED

Verdict of Coroner is That Shooting at Italian Camp Near Cambridge City Was Accident.

WILL NOT CALL GRAND JURY

There is no probability that Louis Iorio, who killed Italo Fontana at an Italian camp near Cambridge City, will be prosecuted, says the Richmond Item. Prosecuting Attorney Ladd has been awaiting the verdict of the coroner, which was rendered Saturday, and declares that the shooting was accidental. The verdict was:

"I hereby find that the deceased came to his death the 15th day of August, 1910, from a gun shot wound of the head accidentally suffered at the hands of Louis Iorio, while said Louis Iorio was attempting to use his revolver on Julio Pellegrini, who had attacked and cut him with a razor."

Prosecutor Ladd said that in all probability the prosecution will be dropped. He has conducted an independent investigation and has arrived at the same conclusion as Coroner Bramkamp. Mr. Ladd stated that if Judge Fox is not satisfied with the verdict of the coroner there is a possibility that he will call the grand jury to investigate.
